

Each team member's role in achieving effective team performance

Achieving Results Together Workshop Description

Overview

Much has been written about what it takes to build an effective team or workgroup. Most of what's written today is directed toward leadership. In some instances a team is not the answer, but rather the answer is teamwork. What does it take to be a "team player" in your workgroup or team? Through experiential activities, discussion and presentations, this session will explore the key elements and skills required to perform as an effective workgroup or team member.

Objectives

Upon completion of this workshop participants will be able to:

- Define the roles and responsibilities of an effective team member.
- Apply a simple model for understanding the elements of effective workgroups.
- Build effective "win-win" relationships.
- Capitalize on the workgroup's interpersonal style diversity.
- Resolve conflicts that stand in the way of individual and workgroup performance.
- Carry out actions to help the workgroup achieve its goals and successfully accomplish its mission.
- Develop an action plan for personal growth and development.
